[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO JUNE 9

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

The French Assembly.

VERSAILLES June 8.—In the Assembly the debate on the removal of political disabilities of the Orleans Princes was resumed. The committee reported in favor of abolishing the proscription. Thiers said he had opposed the abrogation of the law because he believed such action to be dangerous. He only assented to the views of the committee on condition of the Princes engaging not to sit in the Assembly and not to enter into any intrigue against the Republic. The Assembly then voted to abrogate the law of proscription by 434 yeas to 114 nays, and proceeded to declare valid the election of Duke D'Aumale and Prince De Joinville to seats in the Assembly by a vote of 484 to 113.

Assassination in Paris.

PARIS, June 8.—Marquis Gallifat was assassinated to day by a widow of one of the Communists shot by his orders.

Fire at Constantinople.

LONDON, June 8.—A dispatch from Constantinople dated yesterday says fires broke out that morning simultaneously in four places. At one time one hundred houses were in flames. Fortunately the wind was light and there was a prospect of getting the conflagration under control.

The British Parliament.

LONDON, June 8.—The House of Commons was yesterday engaged in a long debate on the army regulation bill. Cardwell defended the clause abolishing the sale of military commissions. An incidental vote, while it did not decide the question of abolition, showed that the Government had a majority of 177.

Dispatches from Versailles.

VERSAILLES, June 9.—The report of General Perry's appointment is false.

The Finance Minister on presenting the bill for the one million loan, urged the payment of the war indemnity to rid France of the Germans. He relies for success on foreign confidence and internal energy. Strict economy is promised.

The arrests of Rossel and Combet is confirmed. A court martial will treat them as offenders not as political prisoners.

Admirault will probably be made Governor of Paris.

Supplementary elections will come off on the 2d of July.

The London Times on the Washington Treaty.

LONDON, June 9.—The Times reviewing the Canadian opposition to the treaty thinks it sacrifices small communities to the convenience of powerful States. A portion of the Empire is made a scape goat for peace and whole possessions of maratime provinces are bartered away. It urges acceptance by Canada in compensation for American free trade, which rapidly gains ground.

WASHINGTON CITY.

New Hampshire Legislature—Fishing Vessel Lost.

CONCORD, June 8.—The Democrats are jubilant over the organization of the House, and will try to force a vote for Governor before the sick Republican members recover, but it is doubtful whether a vote will be reached this week.

A letter from St. Johns, Newfoundland May 24th, reports the loss of a coasting schooner with forty men on board. They were nearly all married men and were returning to their homes with the proceeds of a successful fishing voyage. Old Pelican, in Trinity Bay, where they resided, is a small hamlet, and nearly every family had lost a member.

General News.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—E. A. McCartney, Superintendent of the Pacific building, and Disbursing Agent for the Department, is a defaulter to the amount of $35 000. McCartney has become insane, and been sent to the asylum.

Captain Hall's Arctic exploration steamer, Polaris, will leave here for New York to-morrow, and thence about the 25th of June for the north pole.

EASTERN STATES.

The Flood at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, June 8.—The water on Claiborne street at the Canal has fallen a foot. Twelve steam engines will commence throwing out the water to-morrow. If no further rains occur the city will be relieved of the overflow in a few days.

New Hampshire Politics.

CONCORD, June 8.—The House of Representatives to-day further completed their organization by the choice of James R. Jackson of Littleton, for Clerk, and James H. Colbath of Barnestead for Assistant Clerk. After a protracted session, a Democratic Sergeant at Arms and Democratic Doorkeepers were elected.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—At least three operators in stocks have cleared independent fortunes out of the recent advance in Crown Point. Other financiers and leading brokers have been clearing from $5 000 to $10,000 per week in commissions since the rise commenced.

The Committee entrusted with arranging the plan for the extension of Montgomery avenue have agreed on a mode of procedure, and there is not much doubt that a majority of the property affected will be represented in the protest and in junction.

The President of the Mechanics' Institute has received notice that Japan will send an immense contribution to the coming fair in this city, which will embrace specimens of almost every branch of manufactures and work in wood, metals and other materials carried on in the Empire. This is expected to be one of the leading features of the fair.

Congressman McCrew, who is a member of the Special Committee appointed to investigate the question of the advisability of the donation of the whole or a part of the Yerba Buena Island to the Central Pacific Railroad Company, is in the city posting himself up and preparing for rendering the report.

The Democratic County Committee have been requested by a committee representing all the wards in the city, to rescind their appointment of delegates to the State Convention and call primaries, as is customary, but the movement is less energetically pressed by the friends of Governor Haight than it would otherwise be, for the reason that it is believed he will have a clear majority in the Convention without the vote of San Francisco or any part of it.

Hiram Tubbs Clinton was damaged to the extent of $10 000 by fire and water last evening by the breaking of a gas pipe.

A lot of twenty seven bales of Oregon wool received by last steamer, was found to contain one half its weight in dirt stowed in the center of the bags, and measures have been taken to prosecute the perpetrators of the swindle.

The City Gas Company will be ready to supply customers by January 1st when a reduction in rates by the old company is expected.

The weather is cold winds and dusty.

Peaches and Madeline pears appeared in the market to day from Marysville.

The evening train has a load of live hogs from Iowa. Having realized 7½ cents, more were ordered by telegraph, to be shipped in the same manner.

Marlpuga has elected Haight delegates to the Democratic State Convention.

A warrant was issued to day for the arrest of a policeman named Doran, on charge of brutally beating a Chinaman and his wife with a club.

On Monday night last a man named Taylor, residing at Martinez quarrelled with his brother in law Jacks a member of the Guerrilla Moseby's band over a game of cards. After having been shot at a couple of times, Taylor fired with a rifle, killing his relative instantly. Deceased leaves a wife and two children.

Attorney General Hamilton has given an opinion in writing, to the effect that the Board of Health is wholly independent of the Board of Supervisors, and the latter cannot refuse to appropriate funds for the payment of expenses incurred by the latter. It is understood that an agreed case will be made to test the question and end the conflict of authority.

The damage to the brig Cole this morning is over $2,500. The vessel would have been wholly destroyed but for efforts of the Russian sailors of the war steamer Bayarin. The fire was caused by rats gnawing matches in the lockers.

The Committee appointed by the Democratic protesters against the action of the County Committee in appointing delegates, called on Judge Pennie, Chairman of the County Committee, and he agreed to call the Committee together to-morrow evening and urge upon them to rescind their action and order the primaries as requested. The Committee representing every ward in the city, have adopted a resolution also asking the County Committee to issue a call for the election of their successors at the coming primaries. It is thought the Committee will order primaries as the only means of harmonizing the party.

SAN DIEGO, June 9.—David Meredith, of the firm of Sublett, Mwedith & Co., died on Cajon ranch last night from injuries received by falling from his horse the same day at Jamuel valley.

Last night a man named Ambrosia Grillas was shot by some person unknown. He was brought to town this evening and received medical care. It is thought the wound will prove fatal.

Pennsylvania Democracy.

SCENE IN THE STATE CONVENTION—THEIR PROTEST AGAINST "ACCEPTING THE SITUATION."

In the Democratic State Convention of Pennsylvania held a few days ago, a mild form of the "new departure" was discussed, but not without much bitterness and disorder. The "recantation" which excited so much difference of opinion was worded as follows:

Resolved, That we recognize the binding obligations of all the provisions of the Constitution of the United States as they now exist, and we deprecate the discussion of issues which have been settled in the manner and by the authority constituted by law.

Mr. Orvis, of Centre county, said he could not vote for that resolution.

Mr. John Miller said: We do not practically acknowledge the binding force of the Constitution as it is, and I trust that there will be no objection to this, because it is drawn up so sensibly and so guardedly that I think no one ought to object to it.

Mr. C. E. Boyle said: I would like to know where the necessity exists for the Democratic party to say that it submits to the provisions of the Federal Constitution. Now if it is intended to affirm the action of the Republican party in adopting what is known as the XIIIth, XIVth and XVth amendments, I say for one that I am opposed now as I have always been, to such affirmation or endorsing of the Republican platform, and I trust it will not be done here. The resolution means something. What is it? If it means to approve what we have always denounced—if it means to approve what we conceive to have been fraud, I am opposed to it. I am opposed to any departure which will lead us into the Republican party. I am willing that the Democratic party should declare its views upon any new question but I am not willing that the Democratic party shall go out of its way and go down on its belly to do homage before the Republican party.

Mr. R. L. Johnston of Cambria county, said that very many of the people in his district had read in a good book in which they were told to let the dead bury the dead. The dead issues are not of importance that there are live issues which are now before the people of Pennsylvania, and which he hoped the Democracy would be willing to meet. If this question is not part of the Constitution of the United States then there are tribunals before which they can be brought for disposal, and if they are any part of that Constitution, then every Democrat ought to sustain them. Upon that view of the question he took his stand, and he hoped that the resolution would pass. The platform was a good one, and one on which the Democracy could march on to victory.

Mr. Biddleman, of Centre county, said this Convention does not endorse negro suffrage, but it merely recognizes the fact that there is a negro and that he votes. They simply recognize this state of things, and that there have been amendments to the Constitution. We are not responsible for these amendments, we only recognize the fact.

Mr. Hipdsman said: This is endorsing negro suffrage, just what the Democratic party has been fighting. We went last fall into a campaign and met our Republican opponents on this constitutional amendment, and I ask what was the result? It was that in a Congress district where there was a large Republican majority we elected our candidate by 800 majority and in my own district we went square to the people on this question and increased our majority from a little over 1 000 to 1,700. Now, how am I to return to my people and say to them we take back all we said last fall, and the Republicans who came over and voted for us may go where they think proper, we go with the Republican party. Now, I say that for these reasons I am opposed to these resolutions.

Mr. Cassidy, the chairman of the committee, closed the debate, speaking in favor of the resolution and the yeas and nays being called for the vote was taken, and resulted in yeas, 76 nays, 53.

A delegate yelled out that Mr. Cassidy might go to the East and advocate negro suffrage, but he would thereby injure the Democratic party in the West, where their success was based on opposition to negro suffrage.

A Model Homestead Enterprise.

A homestead association on a scale more extended and better perfected than any thing ever attempted near any other city, is now in operation at Chicago. The plan combines many important advantages. Here is an account of it:

A party of capitalists and men of taste and administrative ability, purchased an extensive tract of cultivable land known as the George Harms, on the banks of the Des Plaines river, about 14 miles from the Chicago Court house, and on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad. There they commenced their improvements on the most improved plan. The streets were laid out on the curvilinear plan, graded, paved, sidewalked, and sewered complete, gas was put in, water works supplied from artesian wells constructed, extensive parks laid out and beautified, an artificial lake created, and in fact everything pertaining to a first-class city excepting the houses and inhabitants finished, ready for use before a lot was offered. Several hundred acres of wood land were reserved for the principal park and all the ornamental trees preserved unharmed, art being only called in to complete and render attractive the work nature had begun. Churches, school houses, hotels, skating rinks and railroad depots, were all provided for in advance. The lots were then sold at $400 each, their size being 100 by 150 feet, without extra assessments, and with the reservation only that the purchaser should be acceptable to the Trustees, and be under obligation to build upon it and improve it immediately. The result is that first class suburban town, with all the advantages of country air and drives and all the comforts and conveniences and attractions of city life, has sprung up like magic. There is no attempt to cram off of the lots at premiums but the first to purchase and improve have of course the choice of location. As the population increases the outside and primarily least valuable lots, increase in relative value from the improvements made on the others, and readily realize the same price as those first selected.

The Indianapolis Journal expresses its amazement at the facility with which leading Democrats throw aside and disregard the "eternal principles" of their party, in these latter days.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The New York Tribune truthfully says: "It is a spectacle not without its ludicrous side to behold the Democrats, who tried to tear the Constitution into a thousand pieces, complaining now that the men who preserved it are straining some of its provisions and that they, the Democrats, can not bear to see it injured."

The Richmond Whig is peering around for a very moderate man to be elected President. It says: "We of the South know and feel that the elevation even of Jeff Davis to the Presidency in the present state of this country would not tend to promote its happiness and prosperity, it would put too many wounds to bleeding afresh." Let us be thankful that Jeff Davis is not to be offered to us as our President!

The New York World holds out very small encouragement for the success of its party in 1872 when it says the "difference is as high as heaven and as deep as hell which divides the Republican from the Democrat." Considering that the Democracy have to recruit largely from the Republican ranks in order to elect their candidate, such an announcement looks like abandoning the contest before it commences.

The Democrats of West Virginia are wailing. They refused to strike out the word white from their State Constitution, as applied to voters, but now, when they find that the word is also exclusively applied to those who have the glorious privilege of paying taxes, the word has become in their eyes very odious indeed, and they want a Constitutional convention held right away to remove such an objectionable discrimination on account of color.

The Cincinnati Commercial says: "Mr. [illegible] of Ohio offers to take the field in person, if called, if only the Columbus Convention will denounce such utter and shabby nonsense, which is nothing else but Republicanism, and which reduces the great strife for principle upon this arena where good Jeffersonians still abound, and where the true doctrine has been so loudly preached, to a bull fight over the spoils, between such as Vallandingham on the one side, and whatever antagonist Morton names on the other."

The Cincinnati Enquirer gives space to and warmly approves a three column letter from "a distinguished Ohio Democrat," in which Mr. Vallandingham's resolutions are most unmercifully criticised. "By the gods of the Hottentots!" says this writer, "where is the man deserving the name of Democrat, who, after due reflection, would make such a sacrifice of honor, manhood, and personal dignity, for the paltry pay of power? He then goes on with much ability to convict Vallandingham of stultifying himself by subsequently introducing into his platform the "dead issues" rejected at the outset, and of making declarations to be found in every republican platform since the war a part of the Democratic doctrine.

CURRENT NOTES.

Senator Tipton denies the statement that he voted against the ratification of the Washington Treaty. It is also affirmed that Senator Corbett did not vote at all.

Horace Greeley is being lionized at the South. This shows progress. Any time within five years before the war, no Northern man, not even Wm. Lloyd Garrison, would have been more promptly victimized in the South than Horace Greeley. Garrison was detested as a mischievous fanatic, but Greeley wielded a powerful press, and was still more hated.

Chicago is a funny city. The authorities passed an ordinance forbidding funeral processions from stopping at saloons to liquor up on their return from the cemeteries. It appears that this ordinance is persistently disregarded and the Chicago newspapers are now hotly discussing the question whether the corporation had any authority to make such an ordinance.

There is a novel lawsuit in Chenango county, New York, brought by Miss Evans against Curtis Cooper, of Guilford, on a contract made fifteen years ago. The Fulton Times gives the particulars in these words: Mr. Cooper agreed to give Miss Evans one ewe lamb and its increase until she was twenty one years of age, in consideration of a gold watch key. The suit was brought before Justice Newell to recover the sheep or its equivalent. The evidence showed that the increase was to be in ewe lambs, and that the natural increase of a flock of sheep would double every year. According to this estimate Miss Evans would have at the end of fifteen years 16,054 ewe lambs which at $1 per head, would amount to $16 126. Justice Newell heard the evidence, and like a wise man, reserved his judgment.

The Prosperity of the United States.

On this subject the New York Herald has an article whose suggestions may be commended to those pessimists who profess to think that the prosperity of the country is declining. We quote from the Herald's article:

The progress of the United States in wealth, population and material development is without a parallel in the history of nations. It had scarcely emerged from the most gigantic, costly and devastating civil war of modern times than it began to rise with renewed vigor and prosperity. Within six years after the war closed a stupendous floating debt of hundreds of millions was paid and several hundred millions of the organized national debt liquidated. And all this without complaint on the part of the people. Never before did any people pay what the Government demanded of them so freely and liberally. Really there is hardly a limit to the resources of this rich and prosperous country.

Speaking of the growth of New York City, the Herald says it is truly prodigious, yet other cities advance in a relative degree. Nor is the progress restricted to the cities and towns. We cite further:

Millions of acres of new lands are brought into cultivation. The prairies, where a few years ago the savage Indians roamed now blossom as the rose, and resound with the hum and activity of civilization. The South, which was fearfully devastated and impoverished by the war, rose like the Phœnix from its ashes, and a year or two after contributed hundreds of millions to our surplus wealth through its valuable staple products. Its mines, manufactures, railroads, and all the other elements of progress, we are making great strides. Then the hundreds of thousands of emigrants yearly to our shores bring a wealth of labor to enrich the country and to give profitable employment to capital. But extraordinary as this progress is, we are on the eve, no doubt, of a more surprising development. The wars, revolutions, and unsettled condition of Europe must increase emigration to the United States. The poorly paid laborers of the Old World will fly to this country as fast as they can, for here they can get better wages and cheap lands. Here they will be free from military conscription, and can enjoy those political rights and social advantages denied them in Europe. Looking at the condition of France it is reasonable to expect that numbers of the best class of skilled manufacturing workmen and artizans will come from that country to America. Though the Germans have been successful in war they have suffered greatly and are always subject to forced military duty, and they, too will follow the hosts of their relatives who have already come to the United States. From Sweden, Norway and other parts of the north of Europe the tide of emigration is augmenting yearly. From Ireland, England and even from the south of Europe, the stream will in all probability increase. San Juan and the Treaty.

It is said that some opposition was made in the Senate to the treaty of Washington because of the method it prescribes for settling the dispute about San Juan island. But when the matter is dispassionately considered there will be few people, we think, who would say that the Joint High Commission could have done otherwise than refer this controversy to a friendly arbitrator for settlement. It could not be expected that the British Commissioners, after having agreed to a treaty in which all other matters in dispute were to be adjusted on a basis of arbitration, would give up the whole claim of their country on this one point and concede San Juan outright to the United States. Such a course on their part would have been sure to cause rejection of the treaty by their Government. A letter from a high authority at Washington gives these interesting statements:

> There was no way to deal with the San Juan question except to submit it to arbitration. The American Commissioners refused to agree to an arbitration as to that question until all the other questions were adjusted and it was obvious that the Commission would break up unless we would accept an arbitration. The British Commissioners allowed our representatives to fix their own terms for the submission, and the latter finally agreed to submit the matter to the arbitrament of the Emperor of Germany, upon condition that he should decide whether the line should run through the Rosario Strait or the Canal de Haro; and should not be allowed to compromise the question. The great fear of arbitration heretofore has been that the arbitrator would fix upon an intermediate channel, of which there are many, and compromise the question; but now there is no room for compromise, and when required to decide exclusively between the two channels, (as he is) the arbitrator cannot fail to decide in our favor. More than this, it is agreed in the treaty that all the correspondence, public statements, etc., contemporaneous with the treaty of 1846, may be given in evidence, which seems to show conclusively that the parties at the time intended the de Haro channel. It is agreed that the arbitration is to be conducted by the ministers of the countries at Berlin. Mr. Bancroft is our minister there and will remain until this question is settled. He was a member of Mr. Polk's Cabinet at the time the treaty of 1846 was made and knows how it was made and knows how it was understood, and his testimony and influence will be of great value to us. Besides there is no foreign minister at the German Capital who has so much influence with Bismarck as Bancroft.
> The American Commissioners have no doubt as the case will be decided for us, and the British Commissioners seem to expect the same thing. So they said that they could not admit that a war between their country has so long maintained was a war, without subjecting themselves to a storm of indignation at home.

This is a considerate statement. When the whole cause is examined it will be generally admitted that no other course could have been adopted. We may, and doubtless will, own the island by arbitration, but we could not expect Great Britain to back squarely down. It is true we might threaten war. But the country neither wants a war nor the general agitation and interruption of prosperity that would result from a prospect of war between the two countries. The treaty throughout is very acceptable to the country, and will be considered one of the most excellent and popular measures of the Administration.

Two Varieties of the Same Article.

The Ohio river appears to be the dividing line between two kinds of Democracy. Perhaps this should not seem strange when there are the same two kinds in Oregon, with no geographical line between them. North of the Ohio river the Democracy accept the situation as the Oregon Herald does. The party in this declares that it will no longer make war on the Constitutional Amendments or other settlements of the war. South of the Ohio river the Democracy refuse to accept the situation and denounce the "new departure" as the Oregon City Enterprise and Albany Democrat do. The Louisville Ledger declares that the new movement is practically an unconditional surrender to the Republicans. It says: "The Democratic party have continually been receding before Radical aggression, and if they are to go on further, yielding all the distinctive features of the party, there will be no necessity of retaining its organization. If holding the offices and sharing the public plunder is the only principle involved in the politics of to-day, there is no necessity of keeping up two political organizations." The Southern journals generally seem to be disgusted with Northern Democrats on account of their "tame policy."

The contrast between the two kinds of Democracy which are separated by the Ohio river is exhibited further by the course of the Democratic candidates for Governor in the States of Ohio and Kentucky. In the first named State McCook stands on the "new departure" platform, and declares most solemnly that he and his party accept the constitutional amendments and all the results of the war, and will never disturb them. In the last named State Leslie still adheres to the old programme, repudiates the "mongrel platform" of Ohio, and proclaims undying hostility to all that the Ohio Democracy have accepted. Leslie is now stumping Kentucky jointly with Gen. Harlan, the Republican candidate. At the first debate at Frankfort, a few days ago, Leslie said that the "thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the Constitution were forced upon the country by fraud and violence, and that his party recognized them as law, but not until they were decided unconstitutional, which they intended to prove at the first opportunity. He was opposed to having the colored people educated and improved with any portion of the common school fund."

There need be no doubt that of these two kinds of Democracy the Kentucky article will be approved and accepted by the party in Oregon. The Ohio nostrum will be spewed out of the mouths of the disgusted "bedrockers" of this State who, as they declared in their convention last year, stand "squaretoed and flat-footed" on a platform of hostility to the "nigger," repudiation of the public debt, overthrow of the constitutional amendments and opposition to everything the "Radicals" have done since 1861.

Intelligence comes to us that considerable changes of population in the Willamet valley are taking place this year. Many old settlers in this valley are going east of the mountains and new comers are taking their places. Land is changing hands quite rapidly. There is a class who never can endure the bustle of modern civilization in populous districts. These perceive the change now going on in the Wallamet valley, and are moving to the other side of the mountains where they can have "more room" and "more freedom." The idea of being shut in on all sides by neighbors is insufferable.

The Oregon City Enterprise and other Democratic papers are full of anguish over the "new departure," and evidently think the present the bitterest hour for the Democratic party since the surrender of Lee.

The Republican primaries will begin this afternoon at two o'clock and continue till seven. A general attendance at the primaries is desirable. Republicans should see to it that good and true men are nominated for Councilmen. Important interests are to be protected and the people should be alive to them.

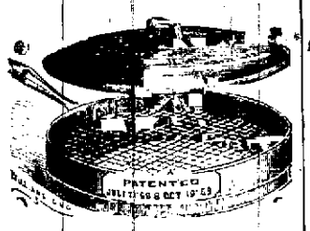
AMERICAN

BROILER!



BROILING, WHEN DONE AS IT should be, is one of the most nutritious, if not the most nutritious, of all forms of cooking meats. Yet it is surprising how few people are aware that by the ordinary process a large proportion of the nutriment (and with it the flavor and tenderness) is lost by the dissipation and slow action of the heat, and consequent evaporation of the juices. Hence, an essential condition of retaining the nutriment is a sudden and intense concentration of heat, so as to instantly sear or crisp the surface of the meat, close the pores and thus prevent the escape of the juices; and, as a chemical result of this, tough meats are also made tender. But to accomplish these purposes, the Broiler must necessarily act on top of the stove or range, over one of the openings, and must be tightly enclosed except at the bottom, so as, while admitting all the heat from below, to allow none to escape above—thus retaining and intensifying it, and at the same time preventing the smoke coming in contact with the meat, which would, of course, to the natural result of a passage of air through the Broiler. By thus complying with the natural laws involved, it is within bounds to say that meats will go 33 to 40 per cent. further—that is, they will contain that much greater proportion of nutriment, not to speak of their equally greater palatableness, and the ordinary time of broiling is reduced one-half. These objects are completely and perfectly attained in the American Broiler, and done in the shape of a utensil so light, simple, cheap and convenient, as to bring it within the reach not only of every one's means, but within the easy management of every cook of ordinary common sense and carefulness. It is the first and only Broiler ever invented or patented which meets in every respect the universal want. It has now been in use about two years, and large numbers sold in various parts of this country, with the most unqualified endorsement of those using it. It leaves no shadow of excuse for the further continuance of the old tedious, troublesome, juice-evaporating, not to say expensive, process, or of that chief of culinary abominations, the FRYING PAN, with its product of meat soaked in burnt grease—the very essence of dyspepsia and certain of life-shortening disorders.

The combination of advantages embodied in this plain and unpretending little utensil can only be appreciated after using it. Among others we may mention that it requires no coke or charcoal, no preparation of fire, (doing its work just as well over ordinary coal or wood, and over a blazing fire or bed of coals,) and is equally adapted to all sized stove and range openings.

The converging flange, swedged into the circular rim, is the most admirable feature of this broiler, and possesses several striking uses, viz: 1st. It admits of an extension of the body of the broiler and of larger space for the meat than the diameter of a stove hole would otherwise do. 2d. While it does this, it allows no grease to fall upon the stove, but runs the melted fat into the fire, whence its smoke and smell is carried up the flue. 3d. It furnishes a support for the loose wire grate upon which the meat rests, and which presents none of the obstructions to the heat that bars do. 4th. It adds to the intensity of the heat which a more inclosure would accumulate, by the reflection of the same from its upper surface, to the extent of 33 per cent., as has been demonstrated by experiment; thus securing the highest possible temperature and rapidity of action so essential to perfect broiling.

Of course there is no gravy-catching arrangement; for the simple reason that it keeps the gravy in the meat—just where it should be. Any process allowing the juices which make the gravy, to escape, is utterly wrong in principle, and involves a corresponding waste of substances as well as injury to health; for not only is a large portion of the juices necessarily lost by evaporation, but what is saved is more or less burnt, and therefore indigestible.

Many persons would expect, in a machine combining so many qualities, something complex and cumbersome, and might be disappointed at first sight; but the simplest machines often embody a greater variety of principles than the most complex; and this has the merit of all valuable and permanent invention—the utmost simplicity and cheapness consistent with the objects to be attained. It is as simple as a pot or skillet, as easily cleaned and much lighter. It consists of only three parts: the body and converging flange in one piece, the loose wire grate and the cover. Its merits entitle it to become a standard kitchen utensil throughout the country. Operating upon recognized and infallible natural principles (which the common process is a gross violation of), its results are equally and necessarily infallible, unclouded by ignorance, carelessness or prejudice against innovations. These principles, of course, apply equally to the various kinds of meats; hence it is equally good for steak, chicken, ham, chops, game, fish and oysters. It is also an unequaled bread toaster and corn popper.

Guaranteed to fulfil all the above specifications or money refunded. Retail price, $2. Fine mesh grate for corn popping and coffee roasting, when desired, 30c extra.

Liberal discount to the trade.

All Broilers will have a label attached with name and trademark stamped thereon.

A Pitiful Condition

It is a sad thing to pass through life only half alive Yet there are thousands whose habitual condition is one of languor and debility They complain of no specific disease; they suffer no positive pain, but they have no relish for anything which affords mental or sensuous pleasure to their more robust and energetic fellow beings

In nine cases out of ten this state of lassitude and torpor arises from a morbid stomach Indigestion destroys the energy of both mind and body When the waste of nature is not supplied by a due and regular assimilation of the food every organ is starved every function interrupted

Now what does common sense suggest under these circumstances of depression! The system needs rousing and strengthening; not merely for an hour or two, to stir it forward into a more pitiable condition than ever (as it assuredly would do if an ordinary alcoholic stimulant were resorted to) but radically and permanently

How is this desirable object to be accomplished? The answer to this question founded on the unvarying experience of a quarter of a century is easily given Infuse new vigor into the digestive organs by a course of Hostetter s Stomach Bitters Do not waste time in administering temporary remedies but wake the system up by recuperating the fountain head of physical strength and energy the great organ upon which all the other organs depend for their nurture and support.

By the time that a dozen doses of the great vegetable tonic and invigorant have been taken the favorable frame of the dyspeptic will begin to feel its be ign influences Appetite will be created and with appetite the capacity to digest what it craves Nerves rouse until the cure is complete—until healthful blood fills the veins instead of flesh and muscle bone and nerve and brain flows through the channels of circulation Instead of the watery pabulum with which they have heretofore been imperfectly nourished

EIGHTH INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION OF THE
MECHANICS' INSTIT

A Story from Eastern Oregon.

[Baker City Democrat.]

All old residents remember old C. E. Place, now deceased. He died about a year ago—and if we may believe him, under oath, he was over one hundred years old when he died.

Several years ago—some eight or ten, we believe—he made his appearance in Baker county, Oregon. After a time he married a young woman—although he hadn't a tooth in his head, only an occasional hair on top of his head—and that he gave his fair young bride $2,000, gold coin, before she would give her consent to take him for better or for worse, and to honor, love and cherish him through the night further tabernacle on the earth. We don't know how true this is; but we do know that he did receive the $1,000, as rumor says, and we think he is not a whit worse, in this respect, than hundreds of other women. In England, and other old countries, they marry in a business way; the parents and friends make the match and legally arrange the jointure irrespective of the question whether or not the affianced love one another. And though it is the custom in the United States for the ladies to turn up their beautiful and lovely noses at their European sisters, yet there are hundreds, in the States, and on the Pacific coast who, in marrying the men they do, are influenced the alliance chiefly because their husbands have plenty of money.

Well. Although old Place was over one hundred years old, he was not too old to beget his kind; he had as much snap and vitality as a full grown lamb of England; and when he (we mean Place—not Parr) yielded up the ghost, he left behind him two girls and a son—and his widow—to fall heir, also, several thousand dollars, a good name and a will. Of the provisions of the will we shall not now particularly speak, except to remark that some of them are somewhat singular.

Things remained in this condition with nothing in particular to relieve the monotony, until one day last week, when the Boise stage arrived here with a city young man, and a young woman the wife of the gentleman aforesaid and a little more of theirs; and last, but by no means least in this case, an elderly lady, the mother of the young lady and of course the grandmother of the child. This elderly woman we judge to be sixty or sixty-five years of age and she claims to be the real, lawful wife, or widow, of Charles E. Place, deceased! and we are quite well satisfied that this is true. We cannot tell how her advent here will affect Place's will and the cheats he left behind, but we would not be at all surprised that the most of them ultimately find a lodgment in the spacious shot-bags and stockings of the newly-arrived Mrs. Place;—the lawful wife of C. E. Place, deceased. They seem to be gravitating towards her quite rapidly.

A Novel Way of Making Love.

In Seville, which is popularly supposed to be in Spain, there is in use a most delicious convention in the way of making love—clandestinely. After dark young caballeros steals softly beneath the lady's lattice, and softly unscrews the handle of their walking sticks, proceed to extract from the same, which are hollow, length after length of hollow tubing, screwing them together after the fashion of a Japanese fishing-rod or the old apparatus wherewith sweeps clean chimneys. A mouthpiece is fitted into each end, and one raised to the window above. Soon, by the aid of this improvised speaking-tube, two souls with a certain unanimity of thought, and two hearts with a possible unison of pulsation, are softly communing.

Now this is all very nice, seductively romantic and all that sort of thing, but mark what the knowledge of it brought to a certain youth of Baltimore. He had read of it, and he tried it, and happening to have a surreptitious affection for a young and wealthy lady, which she as surreptitiously reciprocated, he determined, with her connivance, to avail himself

He got a tin pipe of the desired length, made by a tinner, and at each end of it placed, for want of a better mouth-piece, a funnel. Delicious conversation went on, he sitting on the top of a water-barrel, and she leaning from a window above. They would converse for hours, and exchange all the soft nonsense in the world; and then he would unship the apparatus put the funnel in his pocket, wrap up the pieces in a newspaper, and go home in a condition of heavenly bliss. The course of true love never did run smooth, and one evening the young gentleman, smoking in the back garden at an unusual hour, saw the young gentleman arrive to take up his apparatus and commence his soul-communing operations. He made up his mind in a minute. He went into the kitchen and called for a pitcher of boiling water. It was handed to him, and off he posted up stairs. Just as he reached his daughter's door, he commenced calling to her. So telling her lover to wait a moment, she came to the door,

"Nelly, my dear, run up to my room and get my spectacles. I'll wait here until you come back."

She disappeared up stairs and he stole cautiously to the window. The minute he touched the funnel, the unwary and unsuspecting youth clapped his mouth to it to receive what he had broken off—"my darling, you cannot leave me now." Just then the old gent commenced unconsciously filling that funnel with hot water and the rest of that evening's sentence was never heard. He shut the door on his face for a fortnight after, and declines to go into society just at present.

A Medical Wager.—An anecdote is told of Velpeau, the eminent French surgeon, who was a miserly, unsociable man, and died a few years ago. He had successfully performed on a child five years old, a most perilous operation. The mother came to him and said:

"Monsieur, my son is saved, and I really know not how to express my gratitude. Allow me, however, to present you with this pocket-book, embroidered by my own hands."

"Oh, Madame," replied Velpeau, sharply, "My art is not a mere question of feeling. My life has its requirements, like yours. Fees, even, which is a luxury for you, is necessary for me. Allow me, therefore, to refuse your charming little present, in exchange for a more substantial remuneration."

"But, Monsieur, what remuneration do you desire? Fix the fee yourself."

"Five thousand francs, Madame."

The lady very quietly opened the pocket-book which contained ten thousand francs notes, counted out five, and, after politely handing them over to Velpeau, retired.

How to proceed in the spring and summer months to insure new life, new blood, new vigor: Purchase two bottles of

and one box of

PILLS—worth their WEIGHT IN GOLD.

No better investment can be made for so small a sum.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

HAS ACQUIRED A WORLD-WIDE FAME.

All of my preparations are meritorious. A period of twenty years has PROVED THIS to be the case.

See remarks made by Benjamin Travers, F. R. C. S. Speaking of those diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

H. T. HELMBOLD—Esteemed Friend: We congratulate you on having the handsomest, and at the same time the MOST EFFECTIVE PILL that we have ever known for the purposes intended.

WM. B. WARNER & CO.

H. T. HELMBOLD will remark in conclusion, that his remedies are the result of long and careful study. The Fluid Extracts have been before the public twenty years; the sale of them in that time proves their value. All have been benefitted by them who followed my instructions, and to-day they stand UNRIVALLED in the extent of their sale and UNSURPASSED by any Medicament in the Dispensatory of the United States, not excepting a single HERB, ROOT, PLANT, or scientific preparation.

Pharmaceutical I claim all mine to be, and have never patented a single one.

To dispel any impression or prejudice that might exist in the minds of many against my Preparations from the publicity given, through advertising, and that I am and have been a druggist for a period of 20 years, and more conclusively to prove this, see letter:

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the world.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise.

ALL STAND ON THEIR MERITS.

The Pill I have thought of offering to the afflicted for ten years.

They are now perfect, and I shall stake my time, money, and fame on their effectiveness. The inviting style in which the Pill itself is made, the bottle, label, wrapper—all show with what care they have been prepared. After examination, no English or French preparation will show greater care, and I am really proud of them.

Instead of the nauseous-looking, carelessly-prepared Pills tended generally and put up in wooden boxes, and made generally or offered by those having no experience as physicians, druggists, or manufacturers of medicines, test the medicines offered by your obedient servant.
